When most people think of hazards, storms and fires often come to mind. However, many emergencies strike inside your home. A sewer backup is a household emergency that can become far worse if ignored. Whether it's a small sink clog or a seriously overflowing toilet, touching any kind of sewage water can be harmful. If you encounter this problem, contact NSID immediately. Often residents contact a reputable plumber and incur large fees for sewage backup remediation. Sometimes the cause of the backup is on the homeowner's side of the property and other times it is not. There is no way to be certain until a camera is put into the sewage drain pipe to investigate. Our expert staff at NSID will gladly do this for you FREE OF CHARGE.

Contact NSID any time and our expert staff will come to your residence and investigate the backup. If the obstruction is located within the District's side of responsibility, we will promptly repair the problem. If the obstruction is found on the homeowner's side of responsibility and the cleanout is accessible, our staff will utilize the sewer jet machine to flush the line and provide temporary relief until a plumber can be contacted the next day to repair.

Contact NSID to investigate and there is no cost to you. If you contact a plumber before contacting the District office, unfortunately you will not be reimbursed for the cost. Save your hard-earned money and contact us first!
